"Wish You Were Here" by Jodi Picoult

This book captured my attention right from the start with a relatable storyline about the Covid-19 pandemic and what most of us were feeling and experiencing when it all started.

Marin Ireland narrated this audiobook. Her voice articulation made me think she was actually the main character, Diana, which kept me engaged.

In the story, Diana's planned-out life slowly unravels as the pandemic progresses. There is a dramatic twist in the middle of the story that left me full of different emotions: disbelief, disappointment and wonder.

After this shocking event, Diana has to figure out how to navigate her life and evaluate her personal goals. She starts to think an unplanned future may be what life should be about.

There are more surprising twists toward the end. One twist even made me relisten to the very beginning again!
